ROTARIANS DIVIDE ON DAYLIGHT SAVING

When individual opinions of daylight saving were asked for at the open meeting of the Rotary club on Wednesday noon at the Wauregan House it was like applying a match to a keg of powder. Discussion was very lively for a few minutes with the opinion divided and it was finally decided that the club would refrain from taking action on the matter any law on a strictly neutral policy as an organization.

Arthur M. Brown expressed himself as heartily opposed to the daylight plan either by setting the clock ahead or in going to work an hour earlier the first being characterized as a violation of the statutes and the second as an evasion of the law. He thought everyone should cheerfully obey the law now that it had been made, regardless of whether the law was right or wrong. He said the ruling of the legislature regarding standard time was as much of a law, even if it was not, as any law regarding bootlegging, arson or any other crime. He said that people who violated any law on arson, bootlegging, etc., had just as good an argument as the people who disobeyed the law regarding time.

Casper K. Bailey said amen to the words of Mr. Brown and expressed himself as in favor of the law.

Lewis M. Young said that while he thought people ought to abide by the law he could see no reason why the law should be changed. He said he was a firm believer in daylight saving and said he for one would open his store an hour earlier and close an hour earlier. He said he could see no reason why the law should be changed.

T. C. Murphy said he was a firm believer in daylight saving and said he for one would open his store an hour earlier and close an hour earlier. He said he could see no reason why the law should be changed.

Judge Nelson J. Ayling, in a short talk, said that the sole purpose of the daylight saving plan was during the war when there were many home gardens and that now as that emergency was over there being practically few gardens he could not see why the plan was necessary. He said that he believed the plan was primarily of a benefit to the pleasure class.

Joseph C. Worth favored the plan of advancing working hours one hour.

and not to the working man. The plan disrupts the regime of the infant and child, the shops are out of harmony, and everyone is more or less inconvenienced. He said he thought that the Rotary club should have nothing to do in the matter and moved that no action be taken on it by the club.

Mayor Herbert M. Lewis endorsed Judge Ayling's motion and said he could not see that the Rotary club should go to record as favoring or opposing daylight saving. The matter was then dropped.

Charles A. Saxton of the public affairs committee asked for a general expression of sentiment regarding the securing of a war trophy in the form of a captured German cannon. It was voted to instruct Mr. Saxton to confer with the committee from the chamber of commerce and see if a trophy could not be procured. Railroad schedules were also discussed, but no action was taken.

County Y. M. C. A. Work
The following summary of the work for a week in the towns is made by County Y. M. C. A. secretary R. E. Keller:

On Wednesday evening, County Secretary Keller met the boys of Colchester and planned for the spring activities. Harold Brown was elected president, Arthur Stebbins, secretary. The program adopted calls for in and outdoor recreation, athletic hikes and also considerable work along intellectual and social lines. Later in the evening the local committee held a meeting. The following members were appointed to work as special committees with the boys: Rooms, E. T. Bunyan; social and educational, Dr. A. L. Stebbins; athletics, A. T. Vanelevs; spiritual welfare, L. C. Brown.

Last Thursday evening the Jewett City fathers and sons enjoyed their first banquet at the parish house of the Congregational church. An attractive menu was served by the ladies of the church. Carleton Havens acted as song leader. Miss Ethel Thompson, Harry Paul, Jr. and Gerald Wolf furnished music during the supper. The following men and boys responded with delightful and entertaining talks: Henry Paul, Alex. McNeil, Samuel Cathcart, Daniel Phillips, E. H. Hixon, Roy E. Keller and John Chadwick. P. B. Fager, state secretary of Y. M. C. A. of Connecticut, was the main speaker of the evening. He delighted his audience with an inspiring talk on the Relationship of Father and Son, interspersed with many amusing incidents and stories. To Norman Parkhurst, who was toastmaster, much credit is due for the success of the session. The entire program was arranged by the boys of the local Y. M. C. A. group. That the boys of the county are eagerly awaiting the opening of the campaign is evidenced by the fact that already registrations are coming in. The committee plans to purchase new tents, with tent fly, which will become a part of the permanent equipment.

The two Y. M. C. A. groups of Lebanon will visit the local Y. Friday night, when games and a social hour will be enjoyed.

Illustrated stereopticon slides continue to be in demand among the various groups. The Picturesque Southwest has been shown in Oakdale and Palmerston and is to be used by the Vernalis group.

The executive committee held a meeting Monday afternoon, April 25th, at the Norwich Y. M. C. A. to consider the work for the spring and summer.

At the meeting of the Fitchville group, Friday evening, Edwin Hill, secretary of the Norwich Y. M. C. A., will address the boys.

County Tax on Norwich
The Norwich share in the county tax is to be $55,197.25 according to an assessment from the state recently received by First Selectman Casper K. Bailey. The tax is payable on July 1, 1921. The town in the annual meeting had voted the sum of $11,453.33, and the addition of $22,000 to the estimate means that the town tax will have to be increased approximately 2 mills.

The reason the large amount this year exceeds the estimate is that the county is to raise in two years $200,000 and that $120,000 is to be raised this year and that the $80,000 will go over to next year.

ASKS PEOPLE TO INVEST IN TREASURY SAVING CERTIFICATES
F. C. Ayres, government director of savings, who is at Boston in charge of this district, is urging the postmasters to stimulate the people to recognize the value of government securities and to purchase treasury certificates.

He has sent the Connecticut postmaster the following letter:
"Our sales for the past three months have not kept up to the average which we hope to raise during the present year. We are falling considerably behind that figure, and greater efforts must be made if we are to attain it."

During the past two months we have had much encouragement in your state in the organization of savings societies. The Underwood Typewriter Company has formed the largest savings society in the country. The various insurance companies in Hartford have organized what we expect will be most valuable addition to the sales effort of your state. Everywhere we go we are meeting with good success, but of course this is tempered by the industrial depression and the curtailed hours and unemployment in the manufacturing plants.

To make up for this, each postmaster can perform a most effective service in finding in his community one or more people who have the money to invest. The sale of real estate, stock or bonds frequently places some person in funds, who is looking for a safe investment. If he is not sure of the money or is not sure of his own person, he is committing a grave mistake, and it is doing him a kindness to explain to him the advantages of treasury savings certificates. The postmasters of New Hampshire have been especially successful in this effort during the past month, and I hope that everyone of you will give this particular attention during the ensuing few weeks.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

Aspinook Co., Jewett City, employer, and Noel Garand, Jewett City, employee, infection of right hand, at rate of $5.36.

City of Norwich, street department, employer, and George Mahoney, 7 Woodman's avenue, Norwich, employee, injury to fingers, at rate of $13.24.

Delegates are being chosen to the Universalist state convention in Bridgeport, May 10 and 11.

The demand for weavers is far greater than the supply and many woolen mill workers are being sought in other cities.
